

Contributors / Collaborateurs

---

Volume 14, numéro 1, autumn 1984

URI : https://id.erudit.org/iderudit/acad14\_1con01

Aller au sommaire du numéro

---

Éditeur(s)

The Department of History of the University of New Brunswick

ISSN

0044-5851 (imprimé)

1712-7432 (numérique)

Découvrir la revue

---

Citer ce document

(1984). Contributors / Collaborateurs. Acadiensis, 14(1), 2–2.

CONTRIBUTORS/COLLABORATEURS

CHRISTINA SIMMONS was a postdoctoral fellow at Dalhousie University and now teaches at Raymond Walters General and Technical College, University of Cincinnati. Her research includes the history of marriage and sexuality as well as women's domestic labour and social welfare. An earlier version of her article was presented at the Atlantic Canada Studies Conference in Saint John in May 1983. OLAF JANZEN teaches history at Sir Wilfred Grenfell College of the Memorial University of Newfoundland, Corner Brook. He completed a Ph.D. thesis at Queen's University, and an earlier version of his article was presented at the Bermuda/Canada Conference in February 1984. ROBERT NICHOLAS BÉRARD teaches in the Department of Education at Dalhousie University. He has published widely in the history of education, and is editor of the Newsletter of the Atlantic Association of Historians. A frequent contributor to Acadiensis, JOHN G. REID is Associate Director of Canadian Studies at Mount Allison University. His most recent publication is the two-volume Mount Allison University: A History, to 1963 (University of Toronto Press, 1984). An earlier version of his article was presented at the Atlantic Workshop in Caraquet in September 1983. JAMES OVERTON teaches sociology in St. John's. His work on the political economy and culture of Newfoundland has appeared previously in Acadiensis, as well as in the Canadian Geographer and Studies in Political Economy. L. ANDERS SANDBERG is a graduate student in the Department of Geography at McGill University. The founding editor of Acadiensis, P.A. BUCKNER is now Director of the Atlantic Regional Studies Programme at the University of New Brunswick. His book entitled The Transition to Responsible Government: British Policy in British North America, 1815-1850 will be published next year by Greenwood Press. G.A. RAWLYK is chairman of the Department of History, Queen's University; his most recent books are his edition of New Light Letters and Songs (Lancelot Press, 1983) and Ravished by the Spirit: Religious Revivals, Baptists, and Henry Alline (McGill-Queen's University Press, 1984). A graduate of the University of York and of Queen's University, DAVID A. WILSON currently teaches history at Saint Thomas University. His research focuses on the era of the Atlantic Revolution, and he is preparing a book on Tom Paine and William Cobbett. Previously at the University of Maine at Orono, ALLAN GREER is now a member of the Department of History at the University of Toronto. His work on French Canada has appeared in Histoire sociale/Social History and other publications. GERTRUDE E. GUNN is Librarian Emerita at the University of New Brunswick and sister-in-law of the late W.S. MacNutt.