THE DAVID ALEXANDER PRIZE

The David Alexander Prize is awarded annually for the best essay on the history of Atlantic Canada written in course by a full-time undergraduate student at any university.

The winner of the prize for the year 1982 is Ellen Joyce Hambrook, Blackville, N.B., a student at the University of New Brunswick. Her essay, "The Hambrooks: Mirror of the Regional Economy", was selected by a panel of judges including His Honour, Lieutenant-Governor George Stanley of New Brunswick, Professor P.B. Waite of Dalhousie University, and Professor Stuart Pierson of the Memorial University of Newfoundland. The judges' citation reads: "The Hambrook essay is original in its approach and draws upon primary sources, both published and unpublished. It ties the family history to movements of whole groups in an illuminating way. It is a venturesome effort".

The David Alexander Prize will be awarded for the second time in 1983.

Conditions: Entries must be undergraduate essays between 1,500 and 3,500 words in length on some aspect of the history of Atlantic Canada, written in English or French. They may be research, interpretive or historiographical efforts. The author must be a full-time undergraduate student at an accredited university or college. The essay must have been written to meet the requirements of an undergraduate credit course during the 1982-83 academic year.

Submission: Entries shall be submitted by course instructors no later than 8 May 1983. No instructor shall submit more than two entries. Essays must be typed neatly and should not bear the instructor's comments or a grade. Entries should be sent to The Secretary, Acadiensis, Department of History, University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, N.B.

Adjudication: Entries will be judged by a panel of three distinguished historians. The winner will be announced in the autumn of 1983. No runners-up or honorary mentions will be designated.

Prize: $250.
