

Urban History Review Revue d'histoire urbaine

URBAN HISTORY REVIEW
REVUE D'HISTOIRE URBAINE

Contributors Collaborateurs

Volume 14, Number 1, June 1985

URI: <https://id.erudit.org/iderudit/1017884ar>

DOI: <https://doi.org/10.7202/1017884ar>

See table of contents

Publisher(s)

Urban History Review / Revue d'histoire urbaine

ISSN

0703-0428 (print)

1918-5138 (digital)

Explore this journal

Cite this document

(1985). Contributors / Collaborateurs. Urban History Review / Revue d'histoire urbaine, 14(1), 65–65. <https://doi.org/10.7202/1017884ar>

Contributors/Collaborateurs

Carlo Carozzi est professeur d'urbanisme à l'Istituto Universitario di Architettura de Venise et directeur de la revue Storia Urbana, publiée à Milan. [Carlo Carozzi, Storia Urbana, Franco Angeli Editore Riviste, Viale Monza, 106 – 20127, Milano, Italy].

Elizabeth Waterston, Professor and former Chairman, Department of English, University of Guelph, is a specialist in nineteenth century Canadian Literature, with particular interest in the connections between Canada and Scotland. She is author of the chapters on Travel Literature in Literary History of Canada (1965, 1976) and of Survey: A Short History of Canadian Literature (1973); she co-edited with D.W. Hoffman, On Middle Ground: Landscape and Life in Wellington County (1974), and has published articles in Canadian Literature, Journal of Canadian Studies, Studies in Scottish Literature, and Canadian Review of American Studies. [Professor Elizabeth Waterston, Department of English, University of Guelph, Guelph, Ontario, N1G 2W1].

Terence J. Fay teaches Canadian-American relations at the University of Manitoba and has published a companion article, "Farm Implement Firms as Symptomatic of the Rise of Regional Grain Cities: Winnipeg and Minneapolis, 1876-1926" in The American Review of Canadian Studies. He is currently researching in England a monograph study on the social and economic environment of postwar Great Britain, British North America, and the United States which contributed in 1817 to the Naval Disarmament of the Canadian and American Lakes. [Professor Terence Fay, Department of History, St. Paul's College, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Manitoba, R3T 2N2].

Murray Nicolson is a sessional Lecturer at Wilfrid Laurier University, and author of Woodside and the Family of John King (December 1984). His articles on Irish Catholics have been published in Studies in History and Politics, Social History, Ethnic Forum, Canadian Catholic Historical Review and Polyphony. [Dr. Murray W. Nicolson, 300 Prospect Street, Newmarket, Ontario, L3Y 3V2].

Warren Magnusson is a member of the Political Science Department at the University of Victoria. He is the author of numerous articles on urban politics and the co-editor of City Politics in Canada (1983). [Professor Warren Magnusson, Department of Political Science, University of Victoria, P.O. Box 1700, Victoria, B.C., V8W 2Y2].

John H. Taylor is a member of the History Department at Carleton University and an associate editor of the Urban History Review. He has recently completed a manuscript on Ottawa that will be published in the History of Canadian Cities Series. [Professor John H. Taylor, Department of History, Carleton University, Ottawa, Ontario, K1S 5B6].

Natalie Luckyj is a member of the Department of Art History at Carleton University. [Professor N. Luckyj, Department of Art History, Carleton University, Ottawa, Ontario, K1S 5B6].