

Contributors Collaborateurs

Volume 16, numéro 1, june 1987

URI : <https://id.erudit.org/iderudit/1017950ar>

DOI : <https://doi.org/10.7202/1017950ar>

Aller au sommaire du numéro

Éditeur(s)

Urban History Review / Revue d'histoire urbaine

ISSN

0703-0428 (imprimé)

1918-5138 (numérique)

Découvrir la revue

Citer ce document

(1987). Contributors. Urban History Review / Revue d'histoire urbaine, 16(1), 119–119. <https://doi.org/10.7202/1017950ar>

Contributors/Collaborateurs

Anne MacLennan is a doctoral candidate in the Department of History, at Concordia University, studying Canadian radio during the 1930s. She is also a member of the Humanities Department of Champlain Regional College. [Anne MacLennan, 255 George V Avenue, Dorval, Quebec, H9S 3S8].

Barbara Sanford received her Ph.D. in Urban and Regional Planning from the University of Toronto. She is currently teaching urban planning and related social theory in the Faculty of Environmental Studies at York University. [Professor Barbara Sanford, Faculty of Environmental Studies, 4700 Keele Street, North York, Ontario, M3J 1P3].

Joel Novek received his Ph.D. in Sociology from the University of Alberta in 1974. Since then he has taught at The University of Winnipeg, where he is Associate Professor of Sociology. His major research and teaching interests include the social implications of technological change and the changing structure of activities performed in modern organizations. A member of the Manitoba Research Council since 1983, he has been active in developing linkages between the university and interested community and public sector groups focused on the issue of technology and the workplace. [Professor Joel Novek, Department of Sociology, The University of Winnipeg, 515 Portage Avenue, Winnipeg, Manitoba R3B 2E9].

Godfrey Spragge teaches courses in housing and historic preservation in the School of Urban and Regional Planning, Queen's University, Kingston. He is active in historic preservation in Kingston. [Professor Godfrey Spragge, School of Urban and Regional Planning, Queen's University, D504 Mackintosh-Corry Hall, Kingston, Ontario, K7L 3N6].

Darrell A. Norris is Associate Professor of Geography at the Geneseo campus of the State University of New York. Professor Norris earned his doctorate and taught at McMaster University, where he was later appointed Research Associate for Volume II of the Historical Atlas of Canada. He retains an active interest in Ontario's historical geography, with published research on central place development, house types, migration, literary landscapes, and early tourism. His current work focuses on various aspects of the American roadside landscape in the twentieth century. [Professor Darrell Norris, Department of Geography, State University of New York at Geneseo, Geneseo, New York, 14454].

Jon Caulfield, a sociologist, instructs urban studies at York University. His current research interest is images of the city in Canadian painting as cultural artifacts, aesthetic objects and historical documents. [Jon Caulfield, Instructor of Social and Political Science, York University, 4700 Keele Street, North York, Ontario, M3J 1P3].

Elizabeth Bloomfield is a private scholar who has taught geography and history at the Universities of Auckland, Guelph and Waterloo. One research interest has been the role of municipal elites in fostering urban-industrial growth in Ontario since 1870. She has also developed computer methods for accessing industrial data from the 1871 manuscript census of Canada and for bibliographic compilation, and contributes annual bibliographies of international and Canadian urban history to the Urban History Review. [Elizabeth Bloomfield, 16 Caribou Crescent, Guelph, Ontario, N1E 1C9].