NOTES AND COMMENTS

CANADIAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

EDMONTON, June 4 to 7, 1975

A number of sessions of interest to urban historians will be held at the annual meeting of the Canadian Historical Association in Edmonton, June 4-7, 1975.

Wednesday, June 4:

"A Home for Microstudies: Some considerations Towards an Historical Typology of Place in 19th Century Quebec and Ontario." Participants: D.A. Muise (National Museum of Man) chairman, Richard Alcorn (UWO) and José Iguarta (UWO).

Symposium on Nineteenth Century Canadian Cities

This proposed symposium is an outgrowth of a general project, begun two years ago, to provide a general introduction to nineteenth century Canadian urban development, hopefully to be published in one volume in the Carleton series.

Each participant, in dealing with the history of a particular city, is concentrating on four themes: economic growth and metropolitan development, population (including composition and class structure), social organization (including municipal government), and the physical environment. We expect more than a collection of unrelated local histories, feeling we can fruitfully compare these developments in various cities. Each participant is expected to deal with the themes in a four page brief, to be printed in advance of the conference in the Spring issue of the Urban History Review, published by the National Museum of Man, Ottawa. Copies of the Review would be available in advance or at the conference.

Chairman: Gilbert Stelter, University of Guelph

Halifax: David Sutherland, Dalhousie University

Saint John: Carl Wallace, Laurentian University

Quebec: Terry Ruddell, National Museum of Man

Montreal: Paul-André Linteau, Université du Québec à Montréal
